WALLACK LAW

Wallack Law has built a specialty in defending clients facing commercial gambling and other gambling charges related to coin operated amusement machines (COAMs). Throughout his legal career, Sanford "Sandy" Wallack has represented individuals and businesses across the state of Georgia regarding COAMs.

Business owners and their employees charged with paying cash as prizes for winnings from COAMs may face criminal charges, administrative law proceedings, and seizure of property, assets, money or bank accounts. Sandy has a wealth of knowledge and experience helping clients navigate these complex and serious legal accusations that can result in consequences including criminal convictions, fines, loss of assets and loss of licensure.

A criminal defense attorney for 29 years, Sandy regularly represents people facing charges including murder, armed robbery, domestic assault, drugs and forgery. No matter the charges, Sandy is passionate about fiercely defending all of his clients.
